AWFUL SHOOTING AT WEST SALEM SATURDAY NIGHT

William Vocek Shot Down in Cold Blood by Walter Jones Who Bore Him Year Old Grudge

MURDERER WITH DEPUTY SHERIFF
Was in Custody of Louis Weingarten Who Had Served Warrant Sworn Out by His Wife

TRIED TO KILL JUDGE PHILLIPS
But Few Minutes Before Had Pulled Gun on Official Because He Refused Bail; Is Physical Giant

On the way to the West Salem village lockup in the custody of Deputy Sheriff Louis Weingarten, who knew that he was armed with a revolver, because of a previous attempt to shoot Judge J. A. Phillips, Walter Jones, aged 35, former resident of that place, passed William Vocek, aged 30, against whom he had a grudge, pulled the gun and shot him dead at 11:30 o'clock Saturday night.

Jones, a physical giant, was overpowered by Max Selmar, who was with Vocek, and the deputy sheriff, handcuffed and brought to La Crosse in the automobile of Frank Bolles. He was turned over to the turnkey at the county jail at 1:30 o'clock Sunday morning. The party returned to West Salem without notifying the sheriff or district attorney.

Without authority the body of the murdered man was shipped from West Salem to North Freedom, Wis., at noon Sunday and today County Physician R. H. Flynn was forced to travel nearly to Baraboo to perform an autopsy.

Shooting Cold Blooded
The shooting was one of the most cold blooded in the history of the county and occurred opposite Cullman's warehouse near the Northwestern depot.

According to the village authorities Jones' grudge against Vocek dates back to last July when Vocek with Max Selmar, with whom he was on the night of the murder, attempted to prevent Jones beating his wife.

Jones last July occupied a house in West Salem opposite that of Vocek. Vocek and Selmar were plumbers at the village and both were at Vocek's house. They heard a woman cry for help in the Jones house, rushed across the street and entered. They found Mrs. Jones, it is alleged, bruised and bleeding from the result of an attack by her husband.

Driven from House
They upbraided Jones, it is said, whereupon the latter secured a shotgun and drove them from the house. Mrs. Jones succeeded in leaving the house and spent the night with

Jones Admits Shooting
Jones freely admitted shooting Vocek, when interviewed by a Tribune reporter at the county jail this afternoon, but advanced self defense as his excuse.

"These men have borne a grudge against me ever since they took part in a quarrel between my wife and myself and they threatened to mob me if I ever returned to West Salem. They were advancing threateningly toward me. I believe they were going to jump me and I shot first," he said.

Mr. and Mrs. Vocek at their home. The next day she secured employment, declined to return to Jones and swore out a warrant charging him with beating her. Jones, it is said, "tipped" to the fact that the warrant was out and left town going to the Dakotas. He but recently returned from the

HONOR SATISFIED BY FIRING GUNS

PARIS, May 4.—Honor was satisfied this afternoon when Jose Caillaux, former minister of finance, and Fernand D'Ailly, his opponent in the recent election of the chamber of deputies, met in a bloodless duel in the Park des Princesses. Caillaux was the challenger and the duel was with pistols at 25 paces. With his seconds looking on in greatest anxiety, the former minister fired his two shots in the air. D'Ailly then sent two bullets plunking into the ground. There was then much fussing as the combatants were reconciled and they returned to Paris with their seconds.

LOCAL BOY TELLS OF OCCUPATION OF MEXICAN SEAPORT

Robert Brown Writes to His Mother Telling of Sharp Fighting with the Mexicans

WAS PLACED IN POST OF DANGER

As One of Eight Best Shots in His Battalion He Had Important Part in Driving Out Snipers

LANDED IN DARK WITHOUT LIGHTS

Had Orders from Captain to Shoot to Kill and Not to Touch Drop of of Liquor

First hand details of the battle of Vera Cruz were received in La Crosse today from Robert Brown, sailor aboard the U. S. cruiser San Francisco, who, as one of the eight best shots in his battalion, occupied a post of danger during the campaign against the "snipers" who were picking off American bluejackets and marines from roof tops. In a letter to his mother, Mrs. Ole Brown, 1219 North street, the sailor gives intimate details of the occupation of the Mexican port.

He describes the landing in the dark, under orders from the captain of the vessel not to show a light, and tells of the brief talk given the men before they started, in which the commander urged them to shoot to kill and not to touch a drop of liquor. Then he describes the building of barricades and the charge of 3,000 bluejackets which captured a Mexican barricade. His letter follows:

The Letter

"Vera Cruz, April 24, 1914.

"Dear Mother:

"We are ashore in this city which we captured yesterday and put under martial law. Everything is pretty quiet at the present, but yesterday there was some pretty sharp fighting. There are about eight thousand men ashore and we have patrols out who go all over the city and keep things in order.

"Up to the present, there are about twenty killed and seventy-five wounded. We do not know the number of Mexicans killed, but authentic reports say that there are between two and three hundred, and maybe more, as they are picking them off all the time.

"We landed on the beach about twelve, midnight, on the 21st with all lights out. Before we left the ship, the captain called us all aft and gave us all a little talk. I will repeat it as far as I can remember: "Shipmates, let me warn you not to take a drink of liquor, because you all know the effects of it. Do not light a cigarette or smoke in the night, because the light might expose you to the enemy. Four men were killed yesterday and twenty wounded, two of whom are dying now. Remember that you are not out for fun. You are out on a killing expedition, and when you shoot take your time, for there is no hurry. Shoot to kill."

One of Pickets
"We landed about 12:15 p. m., formed our battalion, marched to headquarters and received our orders. The battalion formed in ranks of twos, on rank on one side of the street and one on the other, each rank watching the houses on the opposite side of the street. When we reached our post, eight of the best shots were picked to do picket duty. I being one of that squad. The rest of the battalion started to build a barricade of bags of beans and sand, railroad ties and everything else that would stop a bullet. I was detailed to the outskirts of the camp with my rifle loaded and with orders to challenge anyone in my vicinity, and if they did not answer, to shoot. The password was 'Roosevelt.'"

"I was relieved about two hours later and put on another post in the shelter of a big stone building. My orders were about the same, except not to look around the corner, as a Mexican would be liable to take a pot shot at me at any time. Nevertheless, I took a chance and peeked around a few times. The first firing that I did was at the belfry of a church. There were some Mexicans firing out of little windows of this church, and every time I would see them, I took a shot at them. That is the way that the Mexicans fight—from housetops or shelter of some kind.

Charge Barricade
"I was relieved and went on the firing line at 8 o'clock. They were firing on us from every direction. We had our barricade erected to run in to from the waterfront and to storm a half completed concrete building. We could not do much with them except to keep them under cover until about 8:30. The men of war opened fire on them then, and while they were shelling the place, about three thousand bluejackets charged on the Mexicans' barricades. We fought a pitched battle for two hours, but the Mexicans proved poor shots.

Western Part of the Republic Witnesses Coalition Between Rivals Against United States

By C. H. RAYMOND, United Press Staff Correspondent.

ON BOARD U. S. S. CALIFORNIA, BY WIRELESS TO SAN DIEGO, Cal., May 4.—Americans and other foreigners are leaving Manzanillo by hundreds in fear of violence. The pier there has been burned. Guaymas newspapers received on board today state that Admiral Howard intends to give 48 hours' notice to the Manzanillo authorities, preliminary to bombarding that port. An editorial in a newspaper at Mazatlan says the rebels generally throughout the western part of the republic are uniting with the federals.

SAN DIEGO, Cal., May 4.—The above dispatch was received early today by wireless in the San Diego office of the United Press. The exact position of the California is not known. Wireless operators thought she was at Guaymas, but were not sure.

WASHINGTON, May 4.—Navy department officials insisted today that no orders had been issued to Admiral Howard, commanding the American fleet on the west coast of Mexico, to bombard Manzanillo unless anti-American demonstrations ceased, as reported from Guaymas.

It was further stated that no word has been received from Admiral Howard since early last night when he reported all quiet at Manzanillo. The state department has heard nothing from Manzanillo for several days.

Report Steamer Mined
LONDON, May 4.—Reports received here from Mexico City today say the Mexican steamship Luella was sunk in Manzanillo bay by the explosion of a mine intended for the United States cruiser Raleigh. No mention is made of casualties in the report.

REFUGEES WANT ACTION

SKIRMISHING AT VERA CRUZ MAY END MEDIATION

If Huerta Persists in Keeping Troops Active United States Will Drop Negotiations

REINFORCEMENTS HELD READY

Transports at Galveston to Keep Up Steam for the Rush to Vera Cruz with Troops

REPORTED HUERTA WILL RESIGN

Statements He Will Stick Called Blind; Carranza Refuses to Agree to Armistice

WASHINGTON, May 4.—D. Emilio Rabasa, a Mexican jurist, and Augustine Carra Calina, under secretary of justice, have been selected as two of Huerta's three delegates to confer with the A. B. C. mediators, according to information transmitted to Secretary Bryan this afternoon by the mediators. General Huerta submitted these two names to the mediators and announced he would submit the third tomorrow.

BY JOHN E. NEVIN

(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

WASHINGTON, May 4.—It is still up to Huerta. That was even more the position of the United States today than it was for more than a year. He retains the power to force drastic action. If the activity on the part of General Maas' troops at Vera

Wilson to Honor Dead

WASHINGTON, May 4.—If public business will permit, President Wilson will go to Brooklyn next Monday personally to honor the American dead now enroute from Vera Cruz on the cruiser Montana. Secretary of the Navy Daniels conferred with him today on the ceremonies to be observed. A plan under consideration is the issuance of an official proclamation fixing Monday as a day of sorrow throughout the country, when all flags on public buildings shall be half-masted.

Cruz increases, the mediation conferences will blow up with a loud noise even before they are well commenced. The president and his advisers believe that the demonstrations at Vera Cruz are a bluff. But if persisted in the bluff will be called by the rifles of the marine detachment and of the fighting Fifth brigade.

The three mediators here in Washington have been very flatly told again that our continued participation in the mediation negotiations depends entirely on the freedom of American troops and Americans generally from any attack.

Huerta May Go
Persistent rumors that Huerta, like Porfirio Diaz, while reiterating his intention not to resign, is secretly making preparations to leave Mexico City and board a foreign warship; and the announcement of General Carranza, chief of the revolution against Huerta, that he will not consent to suspend civil war pending the outcome of attempts at mediation between the United States and Huerta, were among the important developments of the Mexican situation today.

Reinforcements Ready
The general staff has completed its plans for reinforcements for Funston if they are needed. The transports are due at Galveston. They will be re-provisioned and kept in readiness, with steam up, to transfer another brigade to Vera Cruz. The president and Secretary Bryan think the pressure placed on Huerta will influence him to prevent attacks at Vera Cruz. But the general staff has learned that Maas is constantly receiving reinforcements.

The A. B. C. mediators late Saturday afternoon delivered to the United States government and sent out to Huerta and Carranza, requests that representatives be appointed to confer with the mediators.

Await Naming of Conferees
The mediators continued today their work of compiling the initial proposal to be submitted to the three parties to the Mexican controversy. This will be ready so soon as the conferees are named. The president will announce his selection today or tomorrow.

Bryan is said to be backing John Lind for the post. Other high officials opposed to the Bryan policy are proposing John Bassett Moore, admittedly the highest authority on international law in this country.

Until the representatives of the United States, are announced, the

WOOLLEY SUES FOR $1,630.39 FROM CITY

Thomas Woolley, contractor, today filed suit against the city of La Crosse for $1,630.39 for work in connection with the new water system for which the city council refused to pay.

In the complaint Woolley sets forth that the work in question consisted of extras in connection with four large contracts, and that the extras were not specified in the plans and specifications. He alleges he did the work on the oral instructions of the board of public works and the city engineer. He also claims that it has been customary for years to follow such oral instructions.

When the bills for the extras were presented to the city council, they were disallowed.

Daddy's Bedtime Story

Marion's Fern Garden Flourished In the Spring

DADDY thought there was nothing nicer for children to be interested in than flowers. To be sure, Jack and Evelyn were devoted to them. Now that the nice spring weather had come, they spent hours every day roaming in the woods and fields getting all kinds of lovely flowers. These they would arrange themselves, and they always had one especially beautiful or rare bunch for the desk in daddy's study.

"You know I have a splendid idea for you children," said daddy one evening. "What is it?" cried both the children. "Do tell us about it!" "Well," continued daddy, "I once heard of a little girl named Marion whose greatest pride was her fern garden, or 'fernery,' as she called it. 'Oh, couldn't we have a fern garden?'" asked Evelyn right away.

"I am so glad you are interested in my idea," said daddy, "for a fernery is just the thing for you and Jack to have. I think, and you will find it is a great joy, for every year the ferns will come up again. You can take that nice little shady bed under the lilac trees in the garden, and then I will tell you the way Marion arranged hers."

"I think ferns are lovely," said Jack, "and I can dig big holes to put the roots in, so they'll be sure to live."

"That's the way," said daddy. "I see you know just what ferns need. And now to tell you more about Marion's fernery: 'Marion had a little shady bed, much the same as the one you two children are to have. Every spring at just about this time she would go into the woods with a trowel and basket and pick out the loveliest ferns. These she would carry home in her basket. Then in the shady afternoon she would go to her fernery with a watering pot. First she would dig a little hole, and then she would put some water in it to see that the roots of the fern got plenty of moisture, for that is what ferns love. Then she would put the roots of the fern in the hole and put soft earth firmly around it. After she had planted her ferns she watered them some more, for she was very careful that her ferns should be planted just right, and that is why she had such good luck with them.'

"Every spring she would add to her fernery, and the ferns that she had planted the year before came up more beautifully than ever. 'She would get interesting looking rocks and stones and put them between ferns here and there in the little fernery. It was very delightful to see the plants come up in the spring and then go to the woods and get some more beautiful ones. She was very particular, you may be sure, to get some young ones, for they are the best to transplant.'

"We'll start ours tomorrow, won't we, Jack?" said Evelyn.

CONVULSIONS AND BRIGHTS DISEASE

An established recovery in chronic Bright's disease with albumen, dropsy, retinitis and convulsions should interest physicians.

G. W. Kirkpatrick of the Globe Milling company, 148 Laguna St., San Francisco, was in bed believed to be at the point of death for nearly nine weeks. Dr. Proctor told his wife he was liable to die at any moment. There was dropsy and the eye symptoms and he had reached the convulsion stage. In making one of the tubes, after boiling Dr. Proctor dropped the tube. On picking it up he found the sample had not run out. It had solidified, showing almost solid albumen. The doctor administered Fulton's Renal Compound. This was in 1905. Patient's appearance at our office well and hearty in 1913 is answer as to the results and their permanence.

The ability of Fulton's Renal Compound to reduce albumen in many cases of Bright's disease is not a matter of opinion but a FACT IN PHYSICS, and we will mail formula for albumen test that will show the percentage of albumen from week to week. As the albumen declines improvement commonly follows, recoveries having been reported in thousands of cases. Formula and literature mailed on request. John J. Fulton Co., San Francisco. There was a goodly turnout at the White Lilly Sunday school last Sunday. There seems to be a good deal of interest shown in this work. Arrangements are being made for a program on Children's day next month.

GET BIG PRICE FOR CATTLE SHIPMENT

Griswold Brothers Receive $2,300 for Carload of Stock from Their Tomah Lake Farm

TOMAH, Wis., May 4.—Griswold Bros., owners of a large farm near Tomah Lake, made the largest shipment of livestock by any farmer in this section of the country, Thursday. One car load of twenty-nine winter fed steers were shipped to a Chicago commission house and the sum received for the lot amounted to $2,300, the highest market price. This was not all of the herd, several being taken back to the farm on account of lack of room in the car. There will possibly be another shipment from the farm in a short time.

Invitations Received
Many people in the city, as well as in the country have received invitations to be in La Crosse during the "Made in La Crosse Week" and attend the Fourth of July celebration, which it is said will be the largest ever held in this section of the state for years. The week will also be homecoming week in La Crosse.

Itinerants Numerous
Tomah has been pestered with "Knights of the Road" for the past week. Thursday seemed to be their big day in Tomah when about twenty came here on one train. On arriving they made a house to house canvass for food, clothing, etc. At one of the business places in the Third ward sixteen called in one hour. Some city ordinance should be passed to prohibit these people who are sometimes dangerous to society, from begging in the city, punishable with a fine or hard labor on the city streets. This would possibly keep away a large number of these men who would otherwise come here.

Junior Debates
Two debates were held in the high school on Friday between members of the Junior class. The negative won on both questions which were "Resolved, the women should have equal suffrage with men," and "That inter-scholastic activities should not be had at all times of the year."

Saturday, May 2 the motion picture business was started in the Armory. This makes the second "moving" theater in the city. Mr. F. Walcup has been engaged as operator and a fine line of films will be displayed in the future under the direction of the Armory association.

Raymond Sickles went to Onalaska Sunday to pitch for a baseball team there which played a team from North La Crosse.

The crews in the bridge yard are now working the usual ten hours a day after being on nine hours a day since last fall.

The two troops of boy scouts were busy on Saturday cleaning up the Butts grove and Barrows grove, the two picnic grounds of the city. A supper was given them by the ladies of the W. C. T. U. on the completion of their work.

The Imperial Harp orchestra of Appleton gave a dance in McCaul's hall on Thursday evening. A large crowd was present and the evening was enjoyed by all.

A carrier service has been installed by The Tribune and most readers now will receive their papers between the hours of seven and eight in the evening providing the mail train, No. 5, is not late or the papers are not thrown off from the train.

Mr. Paul Rowlands, who is a foreman in the Goodyear Lumber camps in Blue Bill, Mich., is visiting his brother here.

Henry Grutzmacher, mail carrier on route number four, has purchased a light mail carriers wagon and is using it on his route daily.

Work on the Taft residence, opposite the library, is being pushed, a large crew of carpenters working on it daily. In a short time work on the interior will be commenced and the house will be completed.

Don't forget the week of May 4th is "Clean up Week" in Tomah. Do your part.

A marriage license was issued recently to Ray C. Shutter of Tunnel City and Miss Bessie McKain. Both are well known in the city.

Mr. C. Cook of Norwich, Pa., was a business caller here on Friday.

Edward Gibbon of Sparta, spent a short time here Friday.

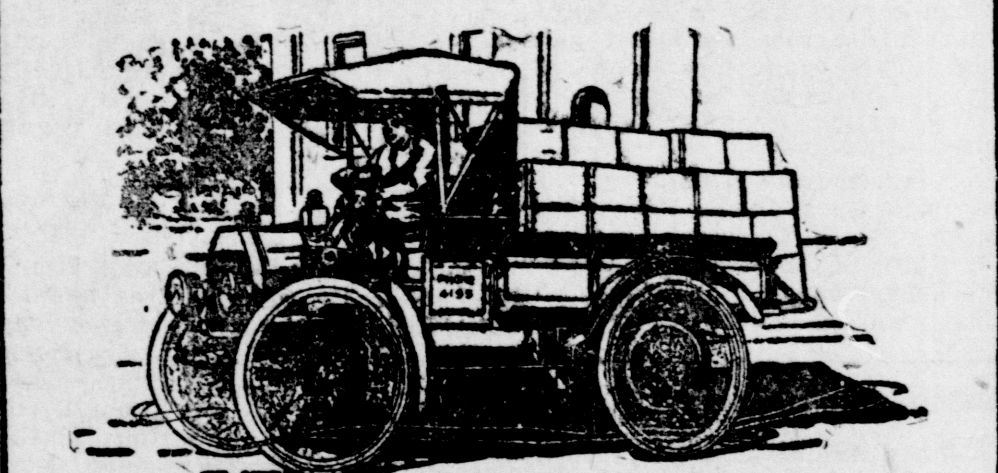

Louis Barnes, owner of the electrical store, has received a stock of automobiles supplies.

Mr. Ed Thom has been reappointed city night watch at a council meeting.

The Electric Light and Telephone company is issuing a new telephone directory and it will be soon sent to press.

International Motor Trucks

"LAST fall we handled nearly our entire fruit crop with an International Motor Truck, the truck readily doing as much as two teams. For a period of nearly three months the truck was on the road six days a week, averaging about forty miles a day over all kinds of roads. It appears to be in as good shape now as the day we brought it home. The machine is a money maker as well as a time saver for us."

Use an International Motor Truck, and handle your produce much more economically and profitably. The solid tires cut down tire troubles. The motor is simple. The truck is easy to operate—one lever controls the car. You can have any style of body—express—stake—panel; the one that best suits your needs.

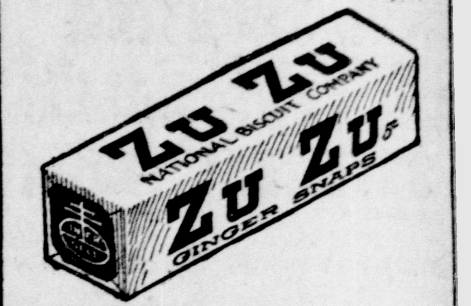

Our International truck catalogue is full of facts that may mean money to you later. Drop us a card and let us send you information.

antees the figures contained in this report.THE POLICE
SITUATION

Considerable feeling has been aroused over the revival of the police department trouble. An analysis of the situation seems worth while.

Despite the fact that John Wendling had made an enviable record as police sergeant, he was removed from the force by the commission for an offense the evidence concerning which sent scores of people, who gathered to hear it, away laughing. They thought a reprimand was the utmost penalty the commission could justify.

The evidence showed the entire absence of anything savoring of an impropriety on the part of the reputable citizens whom the sergeant took home. The offense was not in any sense one of immorality. It consisted purely of the fact that in conferring a favor on his friends Sergeant Wendling was neglectful of his duty, and that he may have indulged in a cup of beer while on duty. (The evidence as to the latter was conflicting.)

No doubt the conclusion of the public, which seems very general, that the offense does not warrant summary removal, is founded upon the fact that offenses many times worse have been passed by the board without even a rebuke, or with minor punishment.

As to this point, it is said that the commission's judgment was not based entirely upon the immediate offense charged, that the "turkey deal" and the "from Bob" money, which in 1911 drew not even a reprimand from the board, were placed in the scales against Wendling.

If that be true, we shall have a right to expect the commission to punish the remaining and more flagrant violations proved and passed over lightly in the investigation of 1911, of which the Wendling admissions were but sidelights.

There is a rumor that the commission knows of other recent and serious offenses committed by Wendling, which it thought better not to parade at the trial. In that case the board should not complain if it finds itself misunderstood. The law gives the accused the right to have the grounds of his removal brought out in a public trial.

But let us be just with the commissioners: there are on the commission two men who were not parties to the tolerant rulings which in the past have encouraged lax discipline. If it is the purpose of these men to hold all policemen strictly accountable for concise compliance with the rules and regulations, and if the severe judgment in the case of John Wendling is a precedent to which they plan to hew, we shall have better police service because of it.

In the latter circumstance, the only criticism that may justly be made as to the Wendling and Mc-Donough cases is that of procedure. It is extremely doubtful that on appeal to the courts the method pursued as to Wendling will stand the test. The right to remove him for the offense charged seems hardly in question, but reversal on technicalities is apt to make a new trial necessary. The public cannot judge the justice of the McDonough decision, for the reason that the latter was denied the public trial to which the law probably entitles him.

So much as to these specific cases. Now to the broader view of the situation. No denial will weigh against plain evidence that the two cases just tried are part of a plan for general reorganization in which Chief John Webber is slated to retire.

The recent history of our police service is known to the average citizen. During the first administration of Mayor Ori J. Sorensen, evidence now on record shows, the red light houses closed by Dr. Anderson during the previous administration were re-opened, and the mayor went over Chief Webber's head and placed two of the cleverest city detectives in control of the vice district.

There followed a period of debauchery in which many ordinary patrolmen became involved. The police were busy running the district, and stores and homes were robbed right and left. The service was the poorest to which La Crosse had ever been subjected. Out of it grew the police scandal still fresh in memory, evidence from which we shall publish verbatim in later discussion of this subject.

During the Dengler administration his full authority was restored to Chief Webber, and that authority was successfully defended during the past year against an attempt of the mayor to deprive him of it.

Just what bearing these events have upon present conditions we leave to the conjecture of the reader. Suffice it to say that during the past three years La Crosse has enjoyed the best service of the decade.

The one criticism for which ground can be found is that the chief does not exert as complete and rigid authority over his men as might be desired. But one reflects that instances of the sort just encountered, where a police sergeant is accused and brought to trial with his chief in complete ignorance of the action, are not conducive to discipline. Not a year has passed during which attacks upon the chief emanating from high places have not tended to weaken his position in the eyes of his subordinates. We should like to see the man have a fair chance to prove that, with the co-operation and sympathy of mayor and commission, he is competent to maintain satisfactory discipline. Stool pigeons are bad for the morale of the department.

We raise no question as to the purposes of the commission, as an organization. We believe that for the most part its members are actuated by a desire to secure the best of police service for La Crosse. They have mentioned as possible successors to Mr. Webber men who would never be thought of in any other connection. But we share the suspicion of a large part of the reading public that the board, in its desire to be of service, may unwittingly lend itself to the uses of an enterprise controlled quite definitely by ulterior motives.

The Modern Girl

I do not sing, I do not play,
As maidens did long, long ago.
We're living in a modern day,
Victrolas do all that, you know.

I do not bake, I do not scrub,
I do not help around the flat;
The silverware I do not rub,
The hired girl attends to that.

I do not walk for exercise,
And haven't since I was sixteen.
For I fare forth in style, I'm wise,
I ride in mother's limousine.

I don't sew buttons on or mend
My clothes, my gloves or hat;
I wrap a bundle up to send,
The laundries will attend to that.

The only thing I do is dance,
No other duties bore me.
Some day some new machine, perchance,
Will do my tangoing for me.

YOU CAN'T BRUSH OR
WASH OUT DANDRUFF

The Simplest and Quickest
Way Is to Dissolve It

The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

Do this tonight, and by morning most if not all of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy, every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop at once, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

If you want to preserve your hair, do by all means get rid of dandruff, for nothing destroys the hair more quickly. It not only starves the hair and makes it fall out, but it makes it stringy, straggly, dull, dry, brittle and lifeless, and everyone notices it. You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and never fails to do the work.

bits. These selected bits the butcher was offering to an old lady for three pence, but she insisted that this was too high.

"Take 'em for tuppence, then," said the butcher. "Best selected bits, a platterful for tuppence. You can't do better nor that."

"I don't know," said the old lady. "It seems rather high."

"Will you give a penny for 'em?"

"Still the old lady hesitated."

"Here," said the butcher, "here, hang it, ma'am, I'll turn my back while you pinch 'em."

Catering to All

A Boston merchant tells of an old grocer in Massachusetts who was about as "slick" an article as one would care to meet.

"One day," says the Bostonian, "I stopped before the shop and looked curiously at a long line of barrels of apples, some marked with an 'A,' some marked with a 'Z.'"

"What is the meaning of these markings?" I asked. "The barrels seem to contain the same kind of apples."

"They are the same kind, son," the old gentleman replied, "but some customers want a barrel opened at the top and some at the bottom."—New York Times.

The wide distribution of the work has already far exceeded our anticipations, and we are more than gratified by the hearty welcome that has attended our efforts. Indeed, it would seem that we not only hit upon the right book for our readers, but that we chose the right moment to present it. We are sure that it is the very best song book ever published, and that every owner will, many times in the future, congratulate himself, and feel grateful to this paper for the possession of a unique work that will afford untold pleasure to his family, as well as himself. The distribution will positively end next week, and we cannot renew our contract with the publishers. Our coupon in this issue gives the terms for the final week.

Not Patented.

Co-operation is the keynote in successful accident prevention work. Many large manufacturers who have designed accident prevention devices for their own use have not patented them in order that others may utilize their ideas. Short Story

TOO MUCH MUSTARD

By LOUISE OLIVER

(Copyright, 1914, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

Mr. and Mrs. Bindley had spent twenty happy years of married life when some one persuaded the male member of the partnership to join the Men's Rights Club.

Mr. Bindley at first was shocked at the things he heard at the regular Friday night meetings, where the members related instances of their eminence in the home.

One session did not make him a convert any more than one swallow can make a summer, nor did two meetings do the work. But by the time he had heard once a week for six months that Smith's wife brought in half of the income, that Brown's wife and daughters never dared to sit down at the table before father, and that Jones never allowed a light in his house after 9 o'clock, he began to think of all the years he had been blindly coddling and pampering Mrs. Bindley.

For weeks lately he had been making memoranda of past concessions to the lady he had been accustomed to call his better half. Since his conversion to men's rights he mentally dubbed her his "worse three-quarters," calculating how much better off he would have been had he never married at all. What a jolly life a bachelor can lead! How much money he can save!

To go back to the memoranda, Mr. Bindley discovered that his wife was costing him four hundred dollars a year. Four hundred dollars! In twenty years he had given up eight thousand dollars for the privilege of being bound down with iron chains to a humdrum, unromantic existence with his wife.

Well, what was gone was gone! But he would see to it that each fiscal year hereafter would find him with four hundred dollars more on the credit side of his bank book.

There were so many things he wanted—a billiard table to begin with and some fine guns, for which he had a craze. Then he could take an extra week in the fall and go hunting with some friends.

Indeed, there was no end of the good things which would come his way after he had instituted the much-considered reform.

He planned his campaign. It would be short and sharp. There was no use beating about the bush. Sunday morning at breakfast, ensconced safely behind the funny supplement, he announced boldly, "Della, I've decided to make a change in the household accounts. We've been spending too much money on the house. I'm going to turn over a new leaf and blow in a little on myself."

Mrs. Bindley making no reply, he went on: "I intend to buy a billiard table, and turn the chicken coop into a den. I'll fix it up with guns and things and make it cozy. I'm going to keep a buffet going also, so when the wine I've ordered comes tomorrow see that it is safely stored in the cellar."

Still no answer, and he continued, encouraged by her silence, "one at the club could call him a coward now when he reported what he had done."

"And I might as well tell you, I don't want my socks darned any more. When they get holes in 'em just throw them away. I'll get new ones. And you can give those two old suits to Jake. I've ordered a couple. I guess that's all just now. Della, unless there is—oh, yes! Suppose you serve my breakfast in my room after this, will you?"

The answer he now seemed to expect not being forthcoming, he shifted uneasily in his chair.

Then Mrs. Bindley started quietly to remove the dishes from the table and busy herself in the kitchen.

All day Sunday he watched her out of the corner of one eye. But there was nothing to indicate that she resented in the least anything that he had said. As usual, she went to church, prepared a splendid dinner, read in the afternoon and went to church again at night.

The next morning he was served a delectable breakfast in bed.

"What a fool I've been all these years," he remarked joyfully to his coffee cup. "It just shows that when a man really asserts himself a woman admires him all the more. It all goes back to the old cave man theory. Beat her and she'll follow you till death. I must call up Jones."

He called up "Jones" that day and was duly congratulated on his spunk. But on Tuesday he did not call up Jones and tell him that on Monday night when he went home he had found Mrs. Bagley gone, bag and baggage, with not a word as to her whereabouts.

He ate a dinner of cold liver and onions he found in the refrigerator and drank some ginger ale instead of coffee. Mr. Bindley had never been known to approach the kitchen stove and knew nothing of cooking.

That night he contracted a cold in his chest. Wednesday he stayed in bed, after attempting to make a mustard plaster. The whole box of mustard, mixed without flour or lard, burned a hole through several layers of his anatomy.

He managed to telephone for the doctor to come and fix up the hole, not realizing how sick he was. But it took the doctor about a minute and a half to discover that Mr. Bindley was really on the verge of pneumonia, although he said he didn't hurt inside at all.

Mr. Bindley declared that he could not, dared not, must not, be sick as his wife was away. But the doctor insisted that he was in for it, and had better let him call an ambulance to take him to the hospital.

So the hospital it was, although by the time he had gone through a course of stretcher, ambulance, elevator and bed, all of which was very skillfully and quickly done, Mr. Bindley was entirely unconscious of even the fact that he was Mr. Bindley or possessed an ego at all.

Days passed and Mr. Bindley opened his eyes to the light of the day. He realized that he had been very sick, and was evidently in a hospital bed. Then he saw Mrs. Bindley in a nurse's uniform in a chair by the bed, quietly rolling bandages. Big tears began to roll down his cheeks. He was very weak. He closed his eyes again, but tears continued to come. Then he felt a soft handkerchief quietly wipe away the drops, and in a few minutes a light hand gently stroked his own that lay outside the covers.

With an effort he raised the other and clasped the hand in both of his.

"Honey," he whispered, so low that she had to stoop to hear him. "There's no fool like an old fool. Won't you come back home? I'm mighty sorry for what I said."

"Yes, dear, I'm going back just to keep you from going bankrupt. It's a sin to waste mustard the way you do."

HAS ETHER "JAG" NEARLY LOSES LIFE

Houston Farmer has Eleven Teeth Pulled and Anaesthetic Causes Him to Fall Into River

As the result of an ether "jag," acquired in the course of having eleven teeth pulled, John B. Benson, a well known Houston county, Minn., farmer, narrowly escaped death Saturday evening by falling through the La Crosse river bridge.

Benson, who was wandering aimlessly about from the effects of the anaesthetic, happened upon the bridge, and, probably to avoid an oncoming north side car, stepped to the side, into the open space between the wagon bridge and the part used by the car line.

Had it not been for the timely arrival of Andrew and Joe Hirt, it is probable that Benson would have lost his life in the river. Informed by a witness that a man had fallen in the river, Joseph Hirt stopped his car, in which he was returning from the north side, and Andrew shinned down a truss of the bridge, grabbing Benson just as he was being carried past by the current. In the meantime his brother went to the car barns, two blocks away, and brought six men with a rope, with which Hirt and Benson were hauled from below. Benson was taken to central police station, where it was found that he was not seriously hurt. After a night's rest Benson was released.

RESISTANCE TO DISEASE

Why is it that one person can work all day standing in cold water, slush and snow with no harmful effect, while another with less exposure contracts colds, pneumonia, rheumatism, sciatica or something equally distressing and dangerous?

Because in the first case the body was in such perfect balance that there was "resistance" to disease. In the second there was lack of tone that invited ill health.

Keep your system toned up with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and foods that once distressed you will be harmless, exposure will bring no fears of rheumatism and neuralgia and even germ diseases need hardly be dreaded.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills assist digestion, correct the lassitude, the palpitation of the heart, shaky nerves and the pallor of face and lips that are the results of thin, impure blood.

Try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for anaemia, rheumatism, neuralgia, nervousness. Take them as a tonic if you are not in the best physical condition and cultivate a resistance that will keep you well and strong. Get a box from the nearest drug store and begin this treatment now.

Send to the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., for a free booklet, "Building Up the Blood."

First English Concertina.

The first English concertina was made in 1829, but there was a German concertina long before that time. Mozart (who seems to have written for every instrument in existence in his day, including barrel organs, mechanical clockwork, etc.) wrote an adagio in C major 2-4 time for the concertina in the year 1799, and also an adagio and rondo for concertina, flute, oboe, viola, and cello in 1790 or 1791.

"IN THE VALLEY OF THE MOON"

Pretty Love Song with a Very Haunting Melody

New York is music-mad over a simple little love song which is being sung, whistled and danced in every theater and musical entertainment in the city. The title is quite an ordinary one, but the tune is said to be remarkably captivating. Anyone trying over the following bars, clipped from a copy of the music just received, will readily recognize the reason for the song's popularity:

The chief merit of the song is that it contains no high notes and is free from the worn-out ragtime, appealing as it does, to the refinement of women.

The song is arranged in several keys and is also out as a hesitation waltz. The few copies of the ballad that reached La Crosse yesterday were eagerly seized by the fair sex.

AWFUL SHOOTING AT WEST SALEM SATURDAY NIGHT

Dakotas and lived in Winona. He had been warned not to return to West Salem, it is said.

Sunday he arrived in La Crosse from Winona and visited a sister, ill at a local hospital. He took the evening train to West Salem, arriving about 9:10 o'clock at night.

At West Salem, it is claimed, Jones met Ole Amundson, and with him had a drink in Larson's saloon.

Voeck, according to Judge A. J. Phillips, saw Jones leave the train and immediately went to his house to get out a warrant charging Jones with slander. The charge, it is said, was to have been based on alleged remarks made by Jones about Voeck.

That Jones followed Voeck to Phillips' house and stood in the shadows listening to the conversation is the claim today. Judge Phillips persuaded Voeck not to get out the warrant telling him that the warrant issued last July was still good and that he, Voeck, should tell the deputy sheriff to serve it.

Jones was seen in the Larson saloon by Deputy Weingarten, it is claimed, and the warrant served there.

Wouldn't Go to Jail

"I'm not going to jail," he is alleged to have said, "take me to Judge Phillips' house. I want to get some bail."

Jones, with the deputy, went to Phillips' house and called him to the door. Upon his refusal to go on Jones' bail, Jones pulled the revolver.

Phillips slammed the door before he had time to shoot and Jones, with the deputy sheriff started down town.

"They hadn't been gone but a few minutes," said Judge Phillips today, "when they returned."

"My wife heard them and from a window said, 'Who's there?'"

"Jones said, 'It's Deputy Sheriff Weingarten. What shall I do with this man?' I then shouted to him, thinking it was the deputy, 'Take him to La Crosse.'"

With that Jones and the deputy started downtown. As they neared the Cullman warehouse Voeck with Max Selmar came up the street and passed them. As they went by Jones, it is said, made a motion as though to strike Voeck. Voeck ducked and shot by him. Jones then reached in his pocket, pulled his gun and before he could be stopped, fired three shots into Voeck's body.

Voeck Thought Unhurt

Selmar, it is said, leaped upon Jones bearing him to the ground and he and the deputy succeeded in wresting the gun from Jones. Voeck in the meantime was standing up, apparently unhurt.

"Come here, Voeck, and help us hold him," Selmar shouted to Jones.

"Not me. I've got mine," Voeck is alleged to have answered and started to walk away.

He had gone but a few feet when he fell over on his face. He died fifteen minutes later. All three of the shots entered his left side just below the heart.

After a struggle Selmar and the deputy succeeded in getting two pairs of handcuffs on Jones and he was loaded into the automobile of Frank Bolles and the trip to La Crosse started.

Jones Details Murder

Jones Sunday afternoon showed no hesitancy in discussing the affair with Police Chief John B. Webber. He told a story practically the same as that printed above. He expressed no remorse for what he termed "getting Voeck."

The revolver with which Voeck was murdered is a 32 calibre double action "United States" manufacture. It is now in the hands of the police.

"I have been told I would be mobbed if I ever went back to West Salem," Chief Webber said Jones told him at the county jail yesterday.

Gun For Protection

"I bought the gun in Winona and was carrying it to protect myself. I came to La Crosse from Winona Sunday noon, saw my sister at the hospital and then went to West Salem on the evening train. My parents live there and I went to see them."

"Why did you shoot him?" he was asked.

"I don't know, except that I wanted to. I guess that's the only reason," it is alleged Jones said at the jail.

Defend Weingarten

In defense of Weingarten who failed to take the gun from Jones, residents of West Salem maintain that Jones is a giant, physically and that for the deputy to have attempted to disarm him would have been almost sure death for Weingarten.

They recite that a year ago when attempts were made to put Jones in the village jail three men were unsuccessful and they were forced to let him go.

"The only way Weingarten could

Here Is Good News for Stomach Victims

Some very remarkable results are being obtained by treating stomach, liver and intestinal troubles with pure vegetable oils, which exert a cleansing, soothing and purifying action upon the lower bowels, removing the obstructions of poisonous fecal matter and gases and preventing their absorption by the blood. This done, the food is allowed free passage from the stomach, fermentation ceases and stomach troubles quickly disappear.

George H. Mayr, for twenty years a leading Chicago druggist, cured himself and many of his friends of stomach, liver and intestinal troubles of years' standing by this treatment, and so successful was the remedy he devised that it has since been placed in the hands of druggists all over the country, who have sold thousands of bottles.

Though absolutely harmless, the effect of the medicine is sufficient to convince anyone of its remarkable effectiveness, and within 24 hours the sufferer feels like a new person. Mayr's Wonderful Stomach Remedy is now sold here by Hoechler Bros.

SKIRMISHING AT VERA CRUZ MAY END MEDIATION

mediators will take no steps toward deciding where the conferences are to be held. At present they favor the Argentine ministry here. But there is a decided possibility that Huerta's representative will ask that some place outside of the United States be chosen and if this is agreed to either Ottawa or Toronto is likely.

Ryan Not Safe

Failure of Dr. Ryan, confidential agent of the state department, to arrive in Mexico City has again given rise to apprehension over his safety. Huerta has announced that he ordered Ryan released and transferred to Mexico City. Consul Canada at Vera Cruz, however, has reported that he has not yet reached there and the Brazilian minister in Mexico City has been asked to inquire as to his whereabouts.

In the face of positive declarations from Huerta that he will die before he will resign, the rumor persisted in diplomatic circles today that he has given his promise and is only waiting events before resigning. His position, it is said, exactly parallels that of Porfirio Diaz, who up to the very minute of announcing that he was going abroad, insisted that he would personally take the field against the victorious Madero forces.

Ask Marines at Tampico

It is reported that representatives of the various oil companies doing business in the Tampico district are to meet in New York city on Thursday to petition the United States to land marines as a guard for the oil fields, and if that is refused to make a similar appeal to Great Britain. It was made plain, however, that the United States will not land marines there unless some serious outbreak comes.

as you can see by the number of dead and wounded. The sailors certainly put up a brave fight and we put them to rout.

"At 10 o'clock we received orders to leave our barricades and to report at another post. We went down street after street arresting and locking up all suspicious looking characters and searching houses and people. We have taken a great many prisoners and confiscated all arms and ammunition that we found. We have the city well under control now. The Mexicans are liable to attack us at any time, and try to drive us out. I don't think they can do it.

"I understand that there are some troops coming down on army transports. I suppose we will be relieved when they get here.

"There are many more things that I could say, but I don't want to cause you any unnecessary anxiety, so don't worry about me, mother. I will come out alright, although I expected to get 'plugged' at any time yesterday."

SENTENCES SCHOOL BOARD TO JAIL

CHICAGO, May 4.—Eight members of the Chicago board of education, cited for contempt of court, were sentenced to thirty days each in jail, by Superior Judge Charles Froell today. Appeals were immediately taken.

The eight board members, who declined to follow a court order reinstating four school board members ousted by Mayor Carter Harrison, are: Peter Reinberg, president of the board; Dean Walter T. Sumner, Julius Smetanka, Jacob M. Loeb, Charles S. Peterson, Ralph C. Otis, Harry Lipsky and M. J. Collins.

NORMAL HEADS TO AID IN SURVEY

MADISON, Wis., May 4.—The normal board has authorized the presidents of the normal schools to co-operate with the state board of public affairs, making a survey of the University of Wisconsin. It is planned to delegate certain normal professors to assist the investigators by attending university classes and reporting on the character of the work done.

ARRESTED—SAYS HE'S NOT THE MAN

D. Lee, a lineman arrested this morning for committing an assault upon Andrew Nothhead, claims that he is the wrong man. Lee says the fight took place in a saloon and admits he was present but claims that he had nothing to do with it. He was arrested on a "John Doe" warrant. The case was adjourned until Wednesday and Lee is being held at the county jail in the meantime.

NORTH SIDE PEOPLE CAPTURE A PROWLER

Armed with an empty gun Alvin Anderson, Clinton and Charles street, H. C. and E. W. Tietz marched Theodore Smith, a midnight prowler, to No. 4 police station.

He was prowling around the rear of the houses in the vicinity of Charles and Clinton streets. E. W. Tietz gave chase and drove him into a blind alley. Anderson came up with the empty gun and with him in front of it the three turned him over to the authorities. He is being held.

Want John D. to Appear.

NEW YORK, May 4.—Counsel for "Sweet Marie" Ganz, the girl anarchist, whose threats helped send John D. Rockefeller, Jr., to the protection of his Tarrytown estate, today planned a strenuous effort to make the millionaire appear personally against the girl at her hearing this afternoon. They base their insistence on a recent ruling of the appellate division that the object of threats must be actual complainant. They say the prisoner has a right to face her accuser.

The Colorado mourners' march began last week by Upton Sinclair and other socialists in front of 26 Broadway, continues. The patrol is now maintained also in front of the Rockefeller town house and his Tarrytown estate.

Armed guards protect all the entrances to Rockefeller's Tarrytown mansion, but so far there has been no clash.

PLAN EFFORT TO IMPEACH AMMONS FOR STRIKE ACTS

Colorado Legislature Meets Today to Discuss Conditions Resulting from Civil War

BOTH SIDES THREATEN TROUBLE

Operators Talk of Prosecuting Strike Leaders Who Think of Taking the Same Course

DISARMAMENT PROCEEDS QUICKLY

Railroads and Express Companies Are Forbidden to Bring Arms Into the State

BY J. H. FURAY

(United Press Staff Correspondent.) DENVER, Col., May 4.—To pay the price for seven months' strike and civil war in southern Colorado, the state legislature met here in special session today in response to the call of Governor E. M. Ammons. Although the principal purpose of the session, as specified in the call, is the appropriation of funds to meet the cost of maintaining state troops in the field and to pass other laws suggested by the strike, they will probably be overshadowed at the outset by a plan to impeach the governor. That such a resolution will be introduced in the house seems certain, but the friends of the executive are sure it will fail.

Have Strike Bills

With the impeachment matter out of the road, it is probable bills providing for compulsory arbitration, establishment of a permanent constabulary and regulation of the use of guards in strike disputes will be introduced.

Operators and miners' leaders are turning their attention to possible prosecutions as the outgrowth of the fighting in the coal fields. John P. White, John R. Lawson, John P. Lenan, Edward Doyle, Frank Hayes and other district and international leaders of the United Mine workers of America have been threatened by attorneys for the mine owners with arrest on charges of murder or conspiracy to murder in connection with last week's battle at Forbes, when seven mine guards were slain, and the battle of Walsenburg the same day which cost the lives of Major P. P. Lester of the hospital corps and two strikers. The union leaders say they do not fear any such prosecutions.

May Prosecute Rockefeller

It is reported that Judge Horace Hawkins, attorney for the miners, will bring charges against John D. Rockefeller, Jr., in connection with the "massacre of Ludlow." If any of the union men are accused. The miners point to the verdict of the coroner's jury returned at Trinidad and the report of the military board of inquiry returned here Saturday night. The one held the mine guards and militiamen directly responsible for the deaths of eleven children and two women at Ludlow; the other held the operators remotely responsible for the battle of Ludlow.

Forbid Arms Shipments

The work of disarmament of mine guards and strikers in all the coal fields is proceeding rapidly under the direction of United States troops. Major W. A. Holbrook, commanding the second squadron, Twelfth cavalry, at Trinidad, today ordered all saloons in Las Animas county closed until further notice. He also ordered railroads and express companies not to ship any weapons into Colorado except for the federal troops.

Two troops of cavalry today relieved the militia on guard in Boulder county in the northern coal fields retiring the late state troops from service, except for the men at Oak Creek, Routt county.

Discuss General Strike.

INDIANAPOLIS, May 4.—The twenty-five members of the executive board of the United Mine workers of America were arriving here today from all parts of the country to attend the committee meeting which may spell a general strike involving 500,000 miners, or may give a vote of confidence in the federal government and its ability to handle the situation impartially and effectively.

Frank J. Hayes said the committee's sessions probably would extend over a week, and that the Colorado situation would occupy most of the time. Many matters left over from the national convention here must also be finished up.

Want John D. to Appear.

GLEE CLUB OPERA SCORES SUCCESS

Leading Characters and the Chorus Give Performance with Professional Completeness

FORBES AND HIRSHEIMER STAR

Former as "Mabel" and the Latter as "General" Are Biggest Hits of Evening

The "Pirates of Penzance," given by the Girls and Boys' Glee club of the high school at the theater last Saturday night was a success in every way. All of the soloists carried their parts in faultless style, and the work of the choruses is deserving of especial mention. The attack and harmony was all that could be desired. The chorus of the policemen who were recruited to go out and exterminate the bold pirates was one of the hits of the evening. They were compelled to respond to an encore.

Story of Opera

The story of the opera in brief is as follows: Frederic is apprenticed to the pirates until he becomes of age. On the day his apprenticeship expires he tells his comrades that he is going to leave them. His old nurse wants her to take her with him. She tells him that she is considered beautiful but he meets the daughters of General Stanley and falls in love with the youngest of them. The pirates capture the daughters and general, but when he pleads that he is an orphan they allow him to go free and his daughters are given up. The general has lied and is much distressed. Frederic is informed by his old nurse that he is but five years old as his birthday is on the 29th of February and comes only once in four ordinary years. As a matter of duty he must stay with the pirates. As a matter of duty he decides to tell the pirates of the general's falsehood. A struggle between the policemen and the pirates ensues with the policemen victorious. The pirate chief in despair tells the general that they are all noblemen gone astray. At this the major general pardons them all and offers his daughters in matrimony.

Miss Forbes Splendid

Miss Winifred Forbes, who sang the leading role as Mabel, General Stanley's youngest daughter and lover of Frederic, did the most commendable work of the evening. She has a charming voice and her interpretation showed an appreciation of the difficult part.

Harry Marshall played the part of Frederic, the apprentice, and did excellent work in this difficult part. Although Mr. Marshall had a bad cold he sang his part in good style. His tones were rich and pure the volume being all that was required.

Harry Hirschheimer, in the role of General Stanley, was one of the hits and gave a most surprising performance. He was costumed in the brilliant attire of the English army officer. He played his part wonderfully well and his solo numbers were especially well received.

Helen Burke as Edith, another of the general's numerous daughters, sang her part exceptionally well. Her voice, while not strong, was sweet and pleasing. She and Miss Forbes were both favored with large bouquets of roses.

Miss Jessie Calloway sang her part with a zest and dash which added life and vigor to the part. Her voice and mannerisms were especially well adapted to the part.

Miss Schweizer an Actress

Miss Elinore Schweizer is beyond a doubt a most clever actress. She played the difficult part of Ruth, a lady of considerable years and practical by nature, in splendid style. Her soft pure tones blended beautifully in the duet and trio with Mr. Marshall and Mr. Barney.

The pirate chief's role was taken by Mr. Axel Barney. Tall of stature and made up fierce of men, he was well adapted to the part. Mr. Barney has a baritone voice of great range and of robust quality which made his singing as pirate chief very commendable.

Owen Whistler and Donald Clarke also had solo parts and sang them in fine style.

Miss McLean is to be congratulated on the excellent training she gave the young people and on the effort she made to stage such a heavy opera, which was done in excellent style. Miss Weissbord as accompanist did fine work.

PLEADS NOT GUILTY

J. Everett White, piano player with the Van Dyke & Eaton Stock company, charged with bigamy, this afternoon entered a plea of not guilty in county court.

JELKE SENTENCED TO TWO YEARS FOR OLEO FRAUD

CHICAGO, May 4.—John F. Jelke, wealthy butterine manufacturer, was today sentenced to two years' imprisonment in Leavenworth penitentiary by Federal Judge Geiger. ### HUERTA TRIES TO FORCE U. S. MARCH ON MEXICO CITY

Intentions Seen in Activities of General Maas and Army Outside of Vera Cruz

WANTS PROTECTION FROM REBELS

Hoped to Provoke Engagement by Demanding Surrender of the Water-works

FUNSTON READY TO MAKE FIGHT

Has 7,000 Troops on Scene and Can Get Sailors from Ships at One Hour's Notice

BY WILLIAM G. SHEPHERD

(United Press Staff Correspondent.) VERA CRUZ, May 4.—The determination of Dictator Huerta to draw the American forces into Mexico City to save him from the rebels was responsible for a demand made Saturday for the surrender of the water works outside Vera Cruz. The demand was refused and General Funston rushed reinforcements to the troops guarding the plant. Reports reached here today that Gen. Maas is preparing to attack the American troops here with a force of 12,000 men. This is a further indication of the step decided upon by Huerta.

Insiders know that the delay of the Americans in starting toward the capital has greatly embarrassed Huerta. Having failed to reunite Mexico, he is playing his next card toward getting American protection against destruction at the hands of the rebels. It was the hope of the dictator that the demand for the surrender of the El Tannar water works Saturday would provoke an engagement.

Huerta has not yet selected a successor to Porfirio y Rojas as secretary of foreign affairs, and I learned today that Rojas resigned because Archbishop Mora failed in an effort to persuade Huerta to abdicate.

Huerta is incensed at Rojas and the latter being a clerical, his friends now fear he will be seized and imprisoned by the dictator as many members of the house of deputies have been.

5,000 Near Vera Cruz

Of the 12,000 troops in command of Gen. Maas, 5,000 are now within twenty-six miles of Vera Cruz. The Mexicans are guarding both routes to the capital and in addition to the force at Soledad there are 3,000 men at Jalapa and 1,500 at Palma. General Maas is at Soledad and in understood to have 5,000 men with him.

General Funston is taking no chances of permitting the Mexicans to catch him unprepared. The entire Fifth brigade is now on duty in Vera Cruz or in the suburbs and with the marines Funston has a force of over 7,000 men. The guard at the Tejar pumping station has been reinforced. In addition to the troops now on shore, the commanding officers declare the bluejackets and marines that returned to the ships with the arrival of the "Fighting Fifth" could be placed aboard whaleboats and landed within an hour.

The fleets of Rear Admiral Badger and Rear Admiral Fletcher in the harbor are ready for instant action. The Chester, San Francisco and Prairie lie close to shore. They are cleared and in position to shell the sand hills back of the city should the Mexicans start to advance.

Establish Field Stations

The signal corps was busy today establishing radio and telephone stations in the city and at strategic points in the surrounding country where Funston has stationed troops.

The flags on all warships, foreign as well as American, and on all the buildings in Vera Cruz dropped to half-mast yesterday as the Montana, carrying the seventeen marines who were killed in the fighting when the city was occupied, steamed out of the harbor headed for home.

400 Leave Capital

MEXICO CITY, May 4.—Another special train bearing over 400 American refugees will leave Mexico City today for Puerto Mexico on Coatzacoalcas bay. There the refugees will be met by ships furnished by Rear Admiral Badger and taken from the country.

Published reports that General Huerta's health is breaking and that he is on the verge of a nervous collapse are untrue. On the contrary he is as active and alert as ever and in the closest touch with all affairs of his government. He takes his usual auto rides about the city, makes his usual visits to the cafes, and outwardly gives the impression of being far from worried.

Officials are reticent as to the progress being made in the plans for mediation. Acting Minister of Foreign Relations Esteve Ruiz and Minister of the Interior Alcocer declined to make any statement, especially as to refusal of General Carranza to join in the armistice requested by the A. B. C. mediators. Neither would they discuss the possibility of consenting to sit with a representative of Carranza in peace conferences in Canada or Havana.

General Huerta and the Brazilian minister met casually Sunday, but so far as is known little progress was made toward any general mediation plan. Huerta took occasion to assure the Brazilian representative that the Mexican authorities would spare no effort in order to safeguard Americans remaining in the country.

LOCAL BOY BACK AFTER ADVENTURES

Leslie Hayes, 1123 Avon street, is home after more than six years' absence, during which time he has been a soldier, a sailor and a whaler, lately being in Mexico.

Mr. Hayes saw General Villa at Juarez, and later saw the battle of Guaymas, which, he said, was not as disastrous as it was desperate. As a sailor, Hayes was aboard the transport, Buford, in its voyage along the west coast of Mexico, and also on the transport, Thomas, in the trip from San Francisco to the Philippines. As a soldier, he was with the Twentieth infantry in the trip from Fort Douglas, Utah, to the Texas border, and with Battery D, Second field artillery. He was honorably discharged in 1912.

WOMEN SHOULD TAKE WARNING

If the statement made at a New York Assembly of women, that healthy American women are so rare that they are almost extinct, is true, it is time for the women of America to take warning and look to their health. It may be headaches, backaches, dragging down pains, nervousness, mental depression, that are tell tale symptoms of some organic derangement for which Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—a simple remedy made from roots and herbs—is a specific and may be relied upon to restore women to a healthy normal condition.

OFFERS OLNEY POST AS BOARD'S HEAD

Much Doubt Whether 70-Year-Old New Englander Will Accept Currency Position

WASHINGTON, May 4.—President Wilson was understood today to be waiting a reply from Richard Olney whether he would accept the chairmanship of the federal reserve board.

It was known that the president had offered the post to the New England lawyer, but in view of the fact that Olney, who is over 70 years of age, refused the ambassadorship to Great Britain because of his advanced age, there was considerable doubt here whether he would accept.

The second member of the board who will be a financial expert, is Paul M. Warburg, of Kuhn, Loeb & Co. of New York. Warburg has had much experience with theoretical banking and came to the rescue of the administration when its currency bill was under attack by the big banking combinations of New York and Chicago.

All information regarding the identity of the other nominees and even confirmation of the fact that Olney's and Warburg's have been decided upon was refused at the White house.

LAUDS COUNTY ROADS
HIGHWAYS OF LA CROSSE COMPARE FAVORABLY WITH THOSE OF ANY OTHER

IN THE STATE SAYS MAC KINNON

La Crosse county roads compare favorably with those of any other county in the state, according to Malcolm MacKinnon, secretary of the Lake-to-River Road association, who was in the city today. Mr. MacKinnon declared that road building had taken such a strong hold upon Wisconsin that upwards of nine million dollars will be spent on highways of the state during the next two years.

Concerning the association of which he is secretary Mr. MacKinnon was optimistic. He declared that it is now established on a firm basis, and is meeting with success in its aims.

Mr. MacKinnon left this afternoon for Winona, to enlist support there for a highway from the Twin cities along the river to La Crosse. From Winona he will visit all the towns along the river on the Minnesota side.

ANTI-TRUST BILL GETS INTO HOUSE

WASHINGTON, May 4.—The administration anti-trust bill was reported to the house this afternoon by the judiciary committee. Among the provisions were included: Corporation officials made personally responsible for wrong doing; interlocking directorates prohibited; fraternal, labor and agricultural organizations, with "legitimate objects," exempted from provisions of the Sherman anti-trust act; price discrimination with the intent to destroy or wrongfully injure a competitor prohibited; holding companies forbidden banks with more than $2,500,000 deposits, capital and surplus, forbidden to have as a director an official or director from another bank.

Rough on the Old Maids.

In a quiet English village there was recently held a celebration in the schoolroom at the dedication of a new fire engine. It was a giddy evening, with three speeches by local clergymen and a long-winded oration by a bald-headed politician. The gem of the evening was the following toast: "May she (the fire engine) be like the dear old maids of our village—always ready, but never wanted!"

NO MILITANCY FOR OHIO SUFFRAGISTS

Mrs. Harriet Taylor Upton (top) and Elizabeth Hauser.

No militancy or sensational tactics will be used in Ohio women's second attempt to secure the ballot, according to Mrs. Harriet Taylor Upton, president, and Elizabeth Hauser, organizer, of the Ohio Woman Suffrage association.

GOLF CLUB BURNS

CHICAGO, May 4.—The clubhouse of the Homewood Country club at Flossmoor, near Chicago, was struck by lightning early today, took fire, and was burned to the ground with a loss of $100,000. Twenty domestics, living in the building while preparing for the opening of the club May 17, escaped in their night clothing.

MOVE PRISONERS BACK FROM LINE

5,000 Federals Held at Fort Bliss Today Are Sent to New Mexico Post

BY N. C. PARKE
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

EL PASO, Texas, May 4.—Under a heavy military guard 5,000 Mexican federals, with their wives and children, began entraining for Fort Wingate, N. M., today, at Fort Bliss military reservation, where they have been held since they fled to American soil from Gen. Villa's victorious rebels at the Battle of Ojinaga.

Through lines of infantrymen, the first detachment of 800 prisoners marched from their barred wire enclosure to trains run upon a siding at the fort. Weeping women, burdened with pots and pans, and with little children clinging to their skirts, trudged slowly over the desert dust to the trains. They followed closely behind the sullen soldiers of General Huerta.

With the first detachment went General Francisco Castro, one of the principal federal leaders. Other detachments will leave later today. Special military escorts have been assigned to General Salvador Mercado, chief federal field commander at Ojinaga; General Ynez Salazar, and Maximo Castillo. Castillo is accused of having set fire to the Cumbre tunnel, near Pearson, resulting in the deaths of more than fifty persons.

For the first time since the recent "war scare" Americans again thronged Juarez, across the border, Sunday.

Following General Carranza's positive announcement that he would not agree to an armistice with Huerta's forces, Carranza, representing the state department, today called off his proposed trip to Chihuahua.

COMB SAGE TEA INTO GRAY HAIR

Darkens Beautifully and Restores Its Thickness and Lustre at Once

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea, with sulphur and alcohol added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant; remove every bit of dandruff, stop scalp itching and falling hair. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get the ready-to-use tonic, costing about 50 cents a large bottle, at drug stores, known as "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," thus avoiding a lot of muss.

While wispy, gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared. After another application or two your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant and you appear years younger.

ASKS SUPPORT IN PROHIBITION FIGHT

Hon. M. J. Fanning of Philadelphia Urges Co-operation of Y. W. C. A. Girls

Hon. M. J. Fanning of Philadelphia, a veteran in the army of those fighting the liquor traffic, gave a short address at the vespers service at the Young Women's Christian association yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Fanning made an eloquent plea for the co-operation of those present in the fight for prohibition now being waged throughout the nation, and that they let their influence be felt for the cause of temperance.

"Some of the meanest people God ever let live," said Mr. Fanning, "are to be found among the temperance people—those who are satisfied to be temperate themselves, but are not willing to help others. If we see a boy in the river, we wouldn't stop to ask how he got there; the thing to do would be to get him out."

Mr. Fanning scouted the idea that anyone is so small or so weak that he cannot help a little in this cause.

"We all can help," he said, "if we make up our minds to it."

The speaker strongly emphasized the fact that true happiness comes only through service.

Chance for Grannie.

A little English boy wrote to his grandmother from his boarding school, in time for her birthday. The letter ran thus: "Dear Grannie: I want to send you a birthday present, but I haven't any money. So if you will send me the money you always give me for Christmas now, I'll buy you something nice with it. I'm thinking of a pair of pistols a boy here will sell cheap or a gramophone that another boy has. I could use them until I come home."

English Agriculture.

As Somersetshire is devoted chiefly to dairying, cattle raising and sheep-herding the Somerset horned sheep, the Devon long wools, and the hardy Exmoor breed are there found in perfection, as well as herds of nonpedigreed shorthorns for the production of the famous Cheddar cheese. Agriculture is extensively carried on in Gloucestershire and Wiltshire also, but one does not there find the variety of Somerset.—London Mail.

Tomato Juice for Stains.

Tomato juice is said to be successful in many cases in removing ink-stains from white materials, such as handkerchiefs, muslin frills, etc. It must, however, be done as soon as possible after the mishap occurred. A clean piece of blotting paper should be laid under the stain, and a slice of raw, ripe tomato rubbed over the surface, fresh pieces of blotting paper being substituted until the ink spot has vanished.

Gentleness at Home.

Use your gentlest voice at home. Watch it day by day as a pearl of great price, for it will be worth more to you in days to come than the best pearl hid in the sea. A kind voice is joy, like a lark's song, to a hearth at home. It is a light that sings as well as shines. Train it to sweet tones now, and it will keep in tune through life.—Elihu Burritt.

POSED AS MAN GIRL IN COURT

MILWAUKEE, Wis., April 4.—Cora Anderson, the young woman who for eight years has lived as a man in Milwaukee, was led into district court today for a searching examination. Arrested Saturday night as "Ralph Kerwino," the girl over Sunday refused to talk of herself.

Mamie White, who posed as "Kerwino's" wife for several years, was led to admit that Anderson was not the right name. She also denied the first story that the masquerade began in Cleveland ten years ago.

"Kerwino" was still clad in a man's suit when taken to court. The police found the woman sitting cross-legged on the bunk, smoking a cigarette. She talked freely of her experiences and has expressed great regret at the prospect of taking up life again as a woman.

"I was shocked at first when I heard how men talked when by themselves, but I got over that," she said. "If women would stick together as the men do and if their habits were not so freely criticised they would act just like men."

"COLD FEET" SAVES LIFE

AKRON, O., May 4.—A young woman of this city, whose name was not made public is alive today because she lost her nerve at the last minute and declined to ascend with H. P. Harris, aviator, at Silver Lake, near here, late yesterday. While thousands watched, Harris fell six hundred feet and was almost instantly killed.

TREMPELEAU TO * OPERATE A FERRY

Will Put Boat Into Service to Meet Trains at La Moille on Minnesota Side

TREMPEALEAU, Wis., May 4.—A ferry to ply the Mississippi river between LaMoille, Minn., and Trempealeau, Wis., will be put into operation within a few days, the result of activity on the part of the Commercial club of Trempealeau.

The club is also endeavoring to secure light and power for their city from the Wisconsin Railway, Light and Power company.

The ferry will be of great convenience to residents of Trempealeau, as well as to persons desiring to visit that city, as it will meet all day trains on the Milwaukee at LaMoille. The proposition of the club, in regard to the light and power plan, is to purchase current from the company, the city to furnish all equipment necessary for bringing the power into Trempealeau. It is proposed to bond the city for sufficient money to carry out these plans.

Justify Confidence.
France has an association which gives loans on the word of honor of the people. It is chiefly for men or women who are of humble position, and in most cases the money is returned promptly.

Hatched by the Sun.
In breeding goldfish, an industry which has flourished in China from time immemorial, the eggs are removed from the reach of the adult male fish and hatched by the sun in shallow dishes.

Too Much for Him.
A colored porter for a local druggist was told to go to another pharmacy to get some cimicifuga rasimoses. He stood, open-mouthed, and gazed at his "boss," then asked: "Ain't thar any other name for dat?"

Business.
Business is the king pin of all professions--the master profession, because business is the one fabric woven out of all entangled activities of a community which go to make up society, and society is life.

FOREIGN MARKETS

New York Stocks

NEW YORK, May 4.--The stock market opened firm and quiet today, with quotations on most of the leaders unchanged. Missouri Pacific opened 3/4 up at 19 1/2 and immediately advanced to 20 1/2, on reports that arrangements for financing the road have been completed.

11 a. m.--Advances were general during the early trading but toward the end of the first hour the market became dull and prices declined slightly from the best.

Noon--Another spurt in prices occurred during the early part of the second hour and all leaders reached new high figures for the present recovery. Buying slackened and prices shaded around noon.

Prices again rallied during the afternoon and again declined by small fractions, the market becoming comparatively quiet. The close was quiet and firm.

KONETCHY SLUMPS WITH THE PIRATES

Eddie Konetchy, the La Crosse boy playing with the Pittsburgh Pirates, has taken a decided slump with the big stick since donning the uniform of the Smoky City club at the beginning of the season. In the first twelve games he has been to bat 44 times and has got 11 hits, giving him a percentage of .250. Sport critics attribute Konetchy's weakening to the fact that better twirlers are sent against the Pirates than the Cardinals and for that reason he is up against a harder proposition than when he played with the St. Louis team. At the present time there are five other members of the Pittsburgh team batting stronger than Konetchy and he is sixteen points below the club's batting average. In the field Konetchy has been playing as strong a game as ever.

SUSPEND KICKERS

NEW YORK, May 4.—Manager Charlie Herzog of Cincinnati was suspended today for three days for his argument with Umpire Quigley at Pittsburgh on Saturday. Herzog objected too strenuously to a decision at second in the first inning. Secretary Heydler also announced the suspension today of Catcher Fischer of Brooklyn for three days for kicking on a called third strike by Umpire Riegler in the Philadelphia-Brooklyn game on Friday.

In order to avert the disaster engineers are draining the water by a tunnel and expect to supply electrical current and light to all the valley cities through the water power which will be developed.

MATHEWSON MAY GO TO CARDINALS

St. Louis Official Says "Big Six" Will Manage St. Louis Team; Giants' Secretary Denies Story

ST. LOUIS, Mo., May 4.—According to a story printed in today's Times, Christy Mathewson, famous pitcher of the New York Giants, will succeed Miller Huggins as manager of the Cardinals, about the middle of June. This is the information received from one closely associated with Huggins, and one who is in the inside dealings of affairs at Robinson field. The reported trade for Mathewson will send Lee Magee and Ivey Wingo, the two Cardinals who made the journey around the world with McGraw's troupe, to the Giants. Inability of the little manager to handle the big fellows, constant quarreling in the camp and the poor start this spring are to cause the sensational switch.

NEW YORK, May 4.—"There is about as much truth in the statement that Christy Mathewson will manage the St. Louis Cardinals as there would be in a report that King George would take charge of the team," said Secretary Foster of the Giants today, when asked regarding the report from St. Louis that "Big Six" would succeed Miller Huggins some time in June. "There's nothing to it. Someone has been hitting the pipe again," said Foster.

WISCONSIN NINE DEFEATS INDIANA

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., May 4.—Indiana lost to the Wisconsin nine, 4 to 2, Saturday afternoon. The Badgers got their first man across the plate in the third inning and scored again in the seventh. The men from Madison clinched the game in the first part of the last session by sending two men over the pan. The score: Indiana . . . 000000110—2 Wisconsin . . . 001000102—4 Batteries: Schultz and Johnson; Moon and Kull.

WOULD ORGANIZE BIG FLY CAMPAIGN

By organizing a fly campaign on a co-operative state-wide basis, the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis association proposes to reduce the cost of standard printing, make easy the composition and mailing of circulars, provide a stimulus for inter-urban competition and reduce to a minimum the troubles and initiative required in each locality. To this end, the association offers to contribute to any city the time of a fly campaign organizer, a share in the cost of printing, press service including illustrations, designs for uniforms for school organizations, and if warranted by the response, valuable prizes for an organized campaign.

"Save Babies' Lives" is the slogan for the campaign. In the April Crusader which came from the press today, a strong appeal is made to the citizens of the state to join in stamping out this disease-carrying pest. "The fly is a deadly enemy attacking the happiness of Wisconsin homes," says the prospectus. "The opportunity for patriotic service to your country is greater than would be afforded by a war with Mexico."

Another recruit recently added to the ranks of women motorcyclists is Miss Lillian Nelson of Nebraska City, Neb.

Motive Power in Norway.
The greatest single factor in the possible industrial development of Norway lies undoubtedly in its cheap and abundant hydroelectric power. The country having practically no coal resources, the Norwegian industries are coming to depend more and more upon the utilization of waterfalls as a primary motive power source.

MINSTREL KIDDIES HAVE NOVEL ACT

Seven Juvenile Actors at Majestic Present Unique Song and Dance Spectacle

The Seven Minstrel Kiddies, presenting a novel song and dance spectacle, head an all feature bill at the Majestic for the first part of the last week of vaudeville for this season. The act, which is original throughout, is one of the cleverest ever brought to La Crosse. An original stage setting is employed, consisting of swings for the entire company in the first scene, and a camping scene in the second part. Little Mabel Walzer keeps the audience laughing with her wholesome comedy, and Miss Mazie Goss displays great singing ability in her song, "The Old Love and the New." "A laugh from beginning to end" is a fit description of the act put on by the Landau Brothers in their scenic comedy novelty, "The Acrobatic Railroaders." A constant fuselage of blackjacks loaded with blanks landing on unsuspecting heads, and the laughable stunts make the act a roar throughout. Fido, the violinist, impersonates the antics of a John Barleycorn on his violin, with all the squeaks and trembles of the overpolluted. When called back, he leaves the comic and plays as becomes an artist. Joe Hardman, the monologist, springs a new line of jokes and jests, all of which are to the point and which keep the hearers in an uproar. Elina Gardner, the child impersonator, shows versatility of expression seldom found in mature people.

Character Told by the Nose.

It is an ancient belief that the nose indicates ancestry. We speak about the aristocratic nose with its high bridge and the plebeian nose of the toiler. Certainly, in a great many cases, race can be distinguished by the nose. The Hebrew could hardly be confused with the typical negro nose. The highly-arched nose is supposed to indicate tendency to rule, and the flattened nose shows servility.

HIGH JUMP RECORD BOOSTED AN INCH

BERKELEY, Cal., May 4.—Edward Beeson of the San Francisco Olympic club, broke the world's record in the high jump at the Pacific coast conference meet here Saturday, clearing the bar at 6 feet 8 inches, an inch higher than the previous mark made by George Horine. Fred Kelly of the University of Southern California equaled the world's record of 15 seconds flat for the 220 yard hurdles.

A homely girl can say that pretty things are useless, and mean it.

EAT LESS MEAT IF BACK HURTS

Take a glass of Salts to flush kidneys if bladder bothers you.

Eating meat regularly eventually produces kidney trouble in some form or other, says a well-known authority, because the uric acid in meat irritates the kidneys—they become overworked; get sluggish; clog up and cause all sorts of distress, particularly backache and misery in the kidney region; rheumatic twinges, severe headaches, acid stomach, constipation, torpid liver, sleeplessness, bladder and urinary irritation. The moment your back hurts or kidneys aren't acting right, or if bladder bothers you, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity; also to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders. Jad Salts cannot injure anyone; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to keep the kidneys and urinary organs clean, thus avoiding serious kidney disease.
